Brief Introductory Narrative:

Troy's ONE GREAT UNIVERSITY has created a platform that teaches about world diversity through the understanding of how cultural uniqueness makes our world dynamic. By partnering with artists and attractions from around the globe, we seek to provide a gateway from Troy, Alabama to the world. We appreciate the opportunity to serve a world-wide community. I can't imagine a more effective forum for international and cultural exchange than through the visual and performing arts. Music, art, journalism, speech and theatre have a universal language and one that can immediately penetrate social, political and ideological barriers. Our goals for 2007 include broadening international opportunities for our faculty and students, successfully completing our NASM re-accreditation and reorganizing the College of Communication and Fine Arts to more effectively reflect our interdisciplinary approach to Communication, Media and Fine Arts.
