Troy University Strategic Plan

Initiative Number: 1 Title: 1. Students-Centeredness

Initiative Percentage:

Description: In its basic form, a student-centered culture designs all aspects of learning, service delivery, and support to meet the needs of students. These needs include a safe, healthy learning environment that nurtures students' personal growth, co-curricular activities that increase their learning in a number of dimensions, administrative procedures that help them to obtain a high-quality education, personal experiences that lead to feeling "connected" to the campus community, and service-learning opportunities that develop them as responsible citizens. Each department of the University must be guided by what is best for the students when making decisions.

Over the next five years, Troy University will work to ensure that each student has immediate and effective support as he/she attends (onsite or online) the University. Given the University's ability to provide traditional and nontraditional campuses and program delivery, it will also meet the increased needs of students who are highly mobile and who may start with Troy University in Montgomery, Alabama, and complete a degree in Korea. By 2010 Troy University will be known as one of the most student-centered institutions in the United States. To make this happen, the following strategic objectives must be addressed.
