TROY UNIVERSITY

Dear Future Trojan:

Thank you for your interest in Troy University. We are a modern, global university with a "small-college" feel.

On the Dothan Campus, you will attend classes where the professors know your name. You will find staff members who place students' needs first. You will study in laboratories and classrooms equipped with the latest technology.

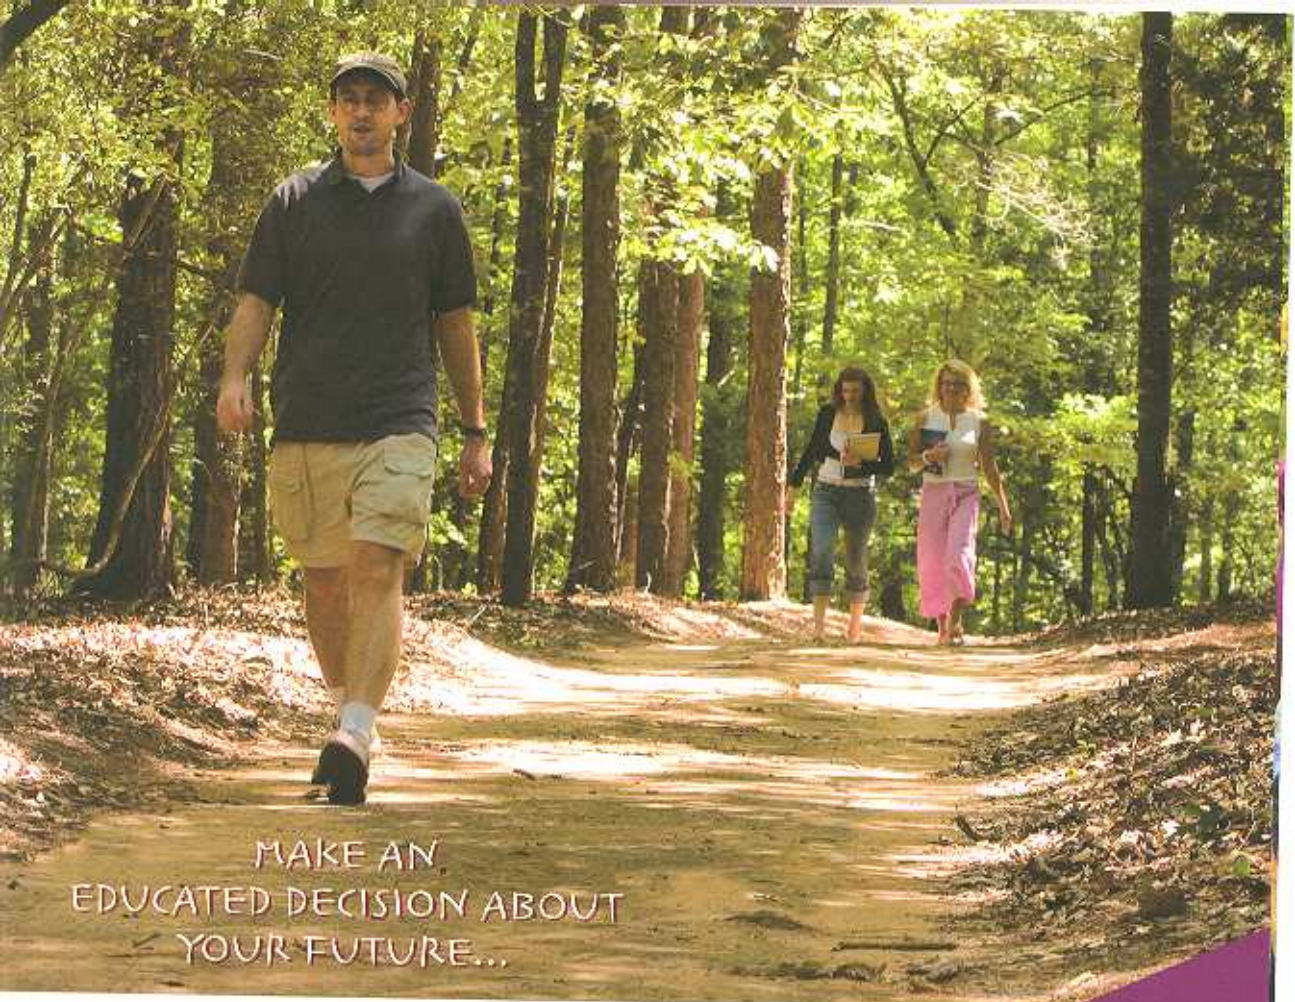

TROY makes earning a degree convenient. Flexible day, evening and online classes allow students to prepare for a better future, while meeting career and family commitments.

This viewbook provides an excellent snapshot of our Dothan Campus. I encourage you to read it carefully, and then come see Troy University for yourself.

Sincerely,

THE DOTHAN CAMPUS...

The Dothan Campus is set on 255 picturesque acres conveniently located along Highway 231 North. Classrooms are equipped with the latest technology, and students find state-of-the-art chemistry, counseling and computer labs, along with exceptional library facilities. The campus is also home to the Archives of Wiregrass History and Culture, which houses important collections of documents related to Alabama's past.

Between classes, students can relax in the campus deli or on swings lining the quad. Winding walking and biking trails provide a tranquil place for reflection or exercise, and the campus' more than 130 forested acres provide an outdoor classroom for biology majors and other science students.

Graduate students at the Dothan Campus finish school with the least amount of debt in the south, according to U.S. News & World Report.

THE FORT RUCKER LOCATION...

Troy University is committed to meeting the education needs of the men and women who serve our country. Since the 1950s, soldiers stationed at Fort Rucker have been able to earn undergraduate and graduate degrees without leaving their post. Members of their families and civilians from the surrounding area also attend classes at the Fort Rucker Location.

"Troy University fits into my hectic schedule. Because TROY offers early morning, evening and online classes, I am able to work full-time and serve my country while earning my degree."

Sgt. Dean Stansell
Air National Guard
Marketing Major

The Dothan Campus offers one of only two Archival Studies minors in the State of Alabama.

"I am extremely impressed with the professors here at Troy University. They really care about their students."

Carol Brown
Elementary Education Major

TAKING A STUDENT-CENTERED APPROACH...

At Troy University, we are large enough to offer exceptional facilities and top-notch programs. Yet, we are small enough to offer our students one-on-one attention.

Student success is our number one priority. Additional help in the form of academic tutoring is available to those who qualify.

Students needing assistance in choosing a career path are able to seek counseling. Job placement assistance is also available through our Career Center, which sponsors annual career and teachers' fairs.

When it comes to financial assistance, Troy University offers a number of programs to help students offset the cost of educational expenses. Scholarships are available for beginning freshmen, transfer and graduate students. Undergraduates may also apply for work-study opportunities through the Financial Aid office.

"The Career Center at Troy University helped me land a job in my field before I graduated."

Marcus Lennon
Finance Major

OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM...

Extracurricular activities are an important part of the TROY experience. From professional groups to honor societies and cultural and religious clubs, the Dothan Campus is home to a number of student organizations.

Homecoming Week, Heritage Week and Summer Splash are just a few of the many social activities Dothan Campus students, faculty and staff participate in each year. Students are also close enough to attend Trojan football, basketball, baseball and other athletic and cultural events in Troy.

"Small classes, a friendly atmosphere, dedicated faculty and a focus on teaching combine to make Troy University one of the finest institutions of higher education in the Southeast."

Dr. Kirk Davis
Counseling & Psychology
Department Chair

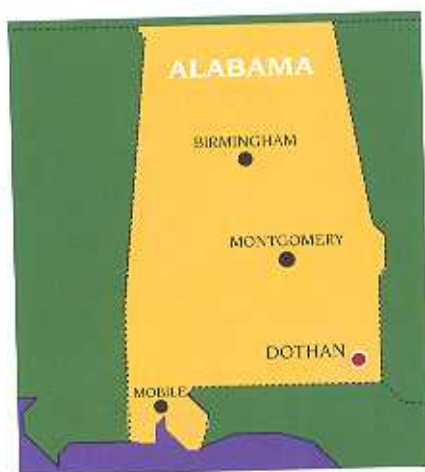

"I like the fact that the classes are not too large. That has allowed me to establish relationships with my professors."

Tiffany Leonard
English Major
