Teachers who earn their masters degrees are a valuable resource. There’s no smarter way to build a school system than with better educated teachers.

Today, with Troy University’s Masters At Work program, we bring the education to you.

Troy’s professors teach classes after school ... at your school. Teachers spend an hour or two at the end of the day taking classes and complete other requirements online in their spare time. What’s more, everyone enjoys the benefit of peer learning, which allows co-workers to help each other as they take classes together.

Provide a valuable service to your teachers and advance the quality of education at your school. Call Troy University about Masters At Work today.