Dear Future Trojan:

I am pleased that you are reading these words, for it means you are considering Troy University as your college home for the next four years. This viewbook will provide a snapshot of student life at Troy University, but allow me to share with you some additional things I believe you should know about this wonderful University.

- TROY emphasizes teaching. Our students are not taught by graduate students, but by full-time faculty members with a thorough grounding in their academic disciplines.
- TROY emphasizes the personal touch. Our faculty and staff know our students by name. Students will get to know their professors, and both student and teacher will benefit from the experience.
- TROY emphasizes safety. The Troy Campus has been cited as one of the safest in America by leading education publications, such as the Chronicle of Higher Education.
- TROY embraces student service. Just one example of our commitment to students is our comprehensive program of new residence hall construction and current facility renovation.
- TROY embraces “family values.” We know that your family wants to take an active role in helping you make the transition to college life. We welcome that involvement and promise to work with your family to help you achieve your educational and personal goals.
- TROY embraces the first-year experience. Not all freshmen are alike. Each first-year student has different needs, different strengths and different challenges. Troy University’s goal is to provide the best first-year experience in the nation.
- TROY embraces a global perspective. Nearly 700 students from 60 nations are enrolled on the Troy Campus. This exposure to students from other lands helps our American students prepare to compete in the international marketplace they await them after graduation.

There is much more I could tell you about Troy University. However, to fully appreciate TROY, a visit to the campus is in order. I look forward to seeing you at Troy University.

Sincerely,

Jack Hawkins, Jr., Ph.D.
Chancellor

Troy, Alabama, is two hours from the white, sandy beaches of northwest Florida and one hour from Montgomery, Alabama’s state capital.
The Kaplan/Newsweek survey named Troy University as one of 70 “best value” universities in the nation.

College is a place to hatch plans, launch hopes and define dreams. It’s where you’ll take your first steps toward an exciting career full of potential. You need a university that will help you succeed as a student, and where you’ll gain the knowledge you need to lay a firm foundation for your career and future. Troy University is that university.

At TROY you’ll have opportunities to learn a wealth of knowledge, explore the world and discover yourself. At TROY, you’ll find students like yourself who are academically motivated and love to have fun. At TROY, you can confidently take the first steps to define the person you want to become — teacher, technician, scientist or senator. It All Starts Here.

The lagoon and “Kissing Rock” are two of TROY’s distinguishing landmarks.

Troy University is located in Troy, Alabama. Our beautiful 577-acre campus is one mile from the heart of Troy and was originally designed by the Olmsted Brothers, the creators of New York City’s Central Park and the Biltmore Estate in North Carolina.

For more than a century, TROY students have studied and socialized in the shade of our aged magnolia trees, stretched out on our expansive green lawns and walked among award-winning roses and around bubbling fountains.

Our campus features a mix of traditional brick buildings, state-of-the-art research centers and modern athletic and performance facilities.

Troy ViewBook.pdf
TROY’s high graduation rates and international student diversity have been recognized by the 2005 U.S. News and World Report “Best Colleges” edition.

The world beyond TROY’s campus is the ultimate locus of a TROY education. Students put their formal and informal education to use by becoming interns, spending semesters abroad and ultimately taking on a career.

Troy University offers more than 70 undergraduate majors and minors. Our extensive selection of courses and small class sizes encourage students to engage with instructors and classmates. TROY’s faculty uses a diverse range of teaching methods and hands-on, practical experiences to challenge and prepare students to excel in their chosen career field.
THINGS TO DO ON AND AROUND CAMPUS:

Take a dip in McDowell Lee Natatorium’s indoor, heated pool

Practice your swings at the Trojan Oaks Golf Course

Catch a Wednesday night movie at the Claudia Crosby Theatre

Enjoy a Venti White Chocolate Mocha at the Starbucks® in the Barnes & Noble Campus book store

Shoot pool at the Trojan Student Center

Attend a drama production at the Trojan Center Theatre
TROY's award-winning Department of Speech & Theatre performs numerous main-stage productions throughout the year.

College isn’t all about “hitting the books.” A well-rounded education spills out of the classrooms and labs, onto our playing fields, into our fraternity/sorority houses and dining halls, across The Quad and into our dorm rooms.

TROY offers more than 100 student organizations and clubs to help you broaden your horizons, discover new interests and share experiences with others. When you’re looking for a crowd full of vitality, you can find one. And when you need a quiet, cozy setting for conversation, we have those too.

From student-led media, fraternities/sororities and honor societies to performing arts, special interest groups and service organizations, you’re sure to find your niche. There’s more to do at TROY than you could ever fit into your week.
ATHLETICS

TROY’s 16 Division I-A intercollegiate teams “bring it on” every time they suit up. Men’s athletics include baseball, basketball, football, rodeo, cross-country golf, tennis and track. Women’s athletics include basketball, cross-country golf, soccer, softball, volleyball, rodeo, tennis and track. Whether you’re a high school All-American or looking to stay fit and lose the “Freshmen 15,” TROY offers state-of-the-art gyms and a wide variety of intramural teams.

When we’re not playing sports, students, alumni and neighbors dress from head-to-toe in cardinal and black to cheer for the TROY Trojans. Our football weekends are rich in tradition and pride. Action-packed football and the nationally recognized Sound of the South Marching Band make Movie Gallery Veterans Stadium the place to be on Saturdays in the fall.

Troy University was awarded the “Best in the Southeast” designation by the 2005 Princeton Review.
